

GIRL'S LOVER CONFESSES TO TAKING BODY TO BED ROOM

Sweetheart of slain Bedford Girl Says She Attempted to Take Her Own Life By Drinking Gunpowder—Denies Murder Charge.

Bedford, Ky., Oct. 16.—In a written and sworn statement Tandy Law, 24 years old, in jail here pending the investigation of the death of Miss Thelma Chandler, 16, his sweetheart of two years, confessed today to carrying the unconscious form of the girl into the room of her home near here and placing her on the bed, where she was found dead a few hours later by her father, Samuel Chandler.

Law made the confession voluntarily. At an early hour this morning he asked for Coroner E. B. McCain and Sheriff V. L. Miles. County Attorney E. W. Tandy was also summoned and before these he told his story.

That Miss Chandler took the powder from two shotgun shells, and pouring this into a glass of water, drank the contents in an effort to end her life because she was soon to become a mother, was the statement Law said the girl made to him that afternoon as they were driving home from a ball game.

"As we neared Thelma's home," Law said, "Thelma said she was sick and put her head down in her hands on her knee. When I turned in at the gate she fell out of the buggy on the ground. I do not know whether the buggy passed over her body or not."

Jumping out, he says he helped her to the front porch, and when he asked her what the trouble was she merely shook her head.

"I then took her in my arms and carried her into the room and laid her on the bed. Then I left."

When Samuel Chandler returned from a lodge meeting that evening he found the lifeless form of his daughter lying across the bed. There were bruises on the body evidently made by horses' hoofs and the steel rim of a buggy wheel. The victim, according to physicians, had suffered internal injuries and a ruptured heart.

Law who was seen with the girl that afternoon at a baseball game about two miles from the Chandler home was immediately placed under arrest and held pending an investigation.

MAINE ISSUES TO DECIDE ELECTIONS, SAYS McCORMICK

Democrats Have Nothing to Offer in Campaign But Abuse of the Party in Power, Says Senatorial Chairman.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The issues which decided the Maine election will determine the November election in the country, Senator Modell McCormick, Chairman of the Republican Senatorial Committee, asserted tonight in a telegram sent to John T. Adams, the Chairman of the Republican National Committee in Washington.

Reports from thirty state chairmen, Senator McCormick said, "show that the Democratic candidates, intellectually and morally bankrupt, without constructive issues and unable today as they were in Congress to put forward any program alternative to ours, are indulging in fabric and futile abuse."

Democratic candidates, the message said, evade the lone issue. The message further asserted the Democrats dared not endorse or reject the proposal. "I can not find that anywhere they have ventured to propose to undo the Republican record," the telegram continued.

CENTER-HARVARD GAME ATTRACTS ATTENTION

All Sportsmen and Sport Writers Direct Their Attention to Saturday's Contest.

New York, Oct. 17.—Still feeling the effects of Iowa's 6 to 0 victory over Yale at New Haven Saturday eastern followers of foot ball are turning toward the tussle at Cambridge next Saturday when another east vs. west struggle takes place — that between Harvard and Centre.

Both of these games, the Iowa-Yale and the Harvard-Centre, have an important bearing on the annual tussle between Yale and Harvard which is without doubt the climax of the sport's eastern season.

Should Centre defeat Harvard, as it did last year, Yale's loss to Iowa won't affect the big game so much, but it will be further proof that the gridiron game of the west is somewhat better than that of the east, as Chicago last year and Iowa this year have about proved.

Harvard won from Bowdoin Saturday, piling up 15 points and keeping Bowdoin away from the crimson goal, and Centre defeated Virginia Poly. 10 to 6. The Virginia eleven is a much stronger team than is generally believed, yet the "Praying Colonels" won with two of their best men sitting on the side lines.

ARRESTS ON NEW CLEW IN MURDER CASE ARE EXPECTED

Arrests Before Nightfall on New Clew Found in Blood-Stained Handkerchief Promised By New Jersey Officials.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 17.—Arrests before nightfall of a man and woman whose bloodstained handkerchiefs were found near the scene of the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills was expected today.

Prosecutor Beekman and his aids let it be known they attached much importance to these handkerchiefs, the first tangible clues to come into their possession.

It was announced Henry H. Stevens, brother of Mrs. Hall, widow of the slain pastor, would be summoned today to tell once more the story of his movements on the night of the crime.

Stevens, a crack marksman, was planning to go to Europe, he said, but was forced to postpone his voyage because of the official attitude.

Mrs. Hall may be questioned today. Local authorities are keeping up the air of activity they assumed yesterday and unofficially are promising "something doing" within 24 hours.

They declined to say how they came into possession of the bloody handkerchiefs.

Beside the handkerchiefs, one of which was said to have a letter "S" embrodered on a corner, county officials had two more leads in their probe today.

"COAL WAVE" ON FRIDAY.

Plans for the next "coal wave" in the Ohio River were finished Monday by Colonel Kutz of the United States Engineers after consultation with the coal shippers. The wave will be started from near Pt. Pleasant next Friday morning. Nearly all barges for the fleet have been assembled and loaded. Other empty barges are on the way to the various coal landings and are to be ready to start away with the rise. The calculation of the coal men is that the wave will float at least 50,000 tons more of coal to Cincinnati.

AMERICAN LEGION MAY SEEK MONEY IN ALL WAR CHESTS

World War Veterans' Organization Says Funds Collected in War Chests Rightfully Belong to That Organization.

New Orleans, Oct. 17. — With the declaration of Hanford MacNider, national commander, that the American Legion regarded the interests of the disabled service men as its first responsibility still ringing in their ears, world war veterans began the second day's session of their convention here, with indications that the rehabilitation question again would be the chief topic under discussion.

In this connection the legionnaires were considering the bulletin issued to all post commanders by Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant, advising them that millions of dollars collected in the war for the benefit of soldiers and sailors rightfully belonged to the American Legion.

After citing court cases and decisions and asserting that the legion was one organization in its class legally to disburse the funds, the national adjutant advised the commanders to take proper steps to secure all war chest collections.

The reply of Colonel C. R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans' bureau to the Legion Rehabilitation commission's attack upon the government's record of performance in dealing with veterans also was receiving attention of the former soldiers. In this statement Colonel Forbes declared that the Veterans' Bureau could not be criticized for any mistakes made under the first Langley act, inasmuch as it had nothing to do with the selection of sites or determining the sort of hospitals to be erected.

IMPROVING MANKIND

Luther Burbank, the genius who has performed such wonders with plant life, creating new varieties, new perfumes and new flavors, increasing the vitality and productivity of flowers and vegetables and fruits, says that "plants are pliable and amenable to the will of man," and that the laws which he has demonstrated are capable of being applied in the field of race improvement.

If better plants, why not better men? If the sprines can be removed from the cactus, why can't the human species be relieved of its evil propensities? If the common daisy can be developed into a gorgeous flower worthy of the company of the roses, why can't human being be ennobled and refined to an even greater degree?

Mr. Burbank says that "plants are pliable and amenable to the will of man." Human nature is anything but pliable, and the will, or self-will, of man is the potent and constant cause of all his misery and the most intractable known element in the universe. To govern the human spirit is the supremely difficult task which is set for every man born into the world, and the strongest have found it easier to subdue all the forces of nature than to subdue themselves.

How much progress have been made in moral and intellectual discipline and development since the time of Plato, for example, who described the soul of man as a charioteer driving a pair of winged horses, "one of them noble and of noble origin, and the other ignoble and of ignoble origin; so that, as might be expected, there is a great deal of trouble in managing them?"

A well-known scientist has said recently, "The first warning that biology gives to statesmanship is that the advanced races of mankind are going backward; that they are biologically plunging downward; that civilization as you administer it is self-destructive; that civilization always destroys the man that builds it; that your vast efforts to improve man's lot, instead of improving man, are hastening the hour of his destruction, that the brain of man is not growing; that man as a breed of organic beings is not advancing. Let me urge you to glance at the chart of your own national biology. The army mental tests have shown that there are, roughly, forty-five million people in this country who haven't any sense."

That is sufficiently discouraging. There is enough truth in it, as it is studied in the light of history and of very recent events, to raise the question as to the value of our present accepted methods of race culture and improvement. What is wrong with our educational system? What is wrong with our mode of religious training? What is wrong with the home, which will remain always the fundamental factor and basic institution in the evolution of mankind?

These questions are not easily answered. Something more is needed, however, than cross-fertilization, selection and cultivation, by which Mr. Burbank has achieved his marvels. Man is more than a plant, more than an animal—he is a soul. Eugenics as a science of race improvement does not meet the case. Making every man a Greek god in form or a Socrates in reasoning power will not save the world. Spiritual factors alone can solve the problem, and while methods of spiritual culture may change the primary elements in the problem remain the same. The message of religion is the one in all ages, and to man in every stage of his development—"fear God and keep his commandments, for this is the whole duty of man."—Lexington Leader.

LAWLESS POLICEMEN

A thirteen-year-old girl who had been bathing at the Oak street beach walked across the lawn near the beach without putting a robe over her bathing suit. That was a violation of the regulations, and Lincoln Park Policeman Cutler, stationed at the beach, seized her and treated her so roughly that her father and mother intervened. The father was roughly handled and the mother abused. The policeman then arrested the girl and the father.

Young John B. Drake, seeing the plight of the family, intervened and endeavored to remonstrate with the policeman. He also was arrested. The following in court all three were discharged. Young Mr. Drake and his father are making a point of the case, and rightly. The young man says that it is not his habit to interfere with the police, but he has seen so many cases of mistreatment at the beach that it became impossible to remain passive.

The police are expected to use discretion in preserving and enforcing law, but it is not their privilege to abuse citizens. A policeman may warn a person who has violated a regulation. A sensible officer knows when a warning is better than an arrest, as it frequently is, and the warning need not be given offensively.

If an arrest is necessary, there is no excuse for violence, or even roughness, unless there is resistance. There is no excuse for abusive language. The policeman's case is in court and not in the market place. The abusive, violent policeman is lawless himself and he brings law into disrespect.

No one expects a policeman to handle a rowdy or a crowd of rowdies by saying, "Tut," but it is expected that ordinary citizens shall be handled in a lawful and not a lawless manner.—Chicago Tribune.

THE MESS THEY MADE

Frank H. Simonds thinks that Great Britain is threatened with a Moslem uprising in Egypt and India and with a revolt of the Arabs in Mesopotamia and Palestine, France with a similar revolution in Syria, and both France and Italy with a Mohammedan rebellion in their colonies of Tripoli, Tunis, Algeria, and Morocco. All this impending trouble is directly traceable to the success of the Turks in Asia Minor, which, in turn, is due to the diplomatic policy of Great Britain and France in the Near East. Those are the powers that control the league of nations. Is it any wonder that the league makes no progress in the direction of world peace?

Hungary has been admitted to the league of nations, making the total membership 52. Unfortunately the league's strength of purpose is not dependent on numbers. Until the two or three powers controlling its affairs really want to see peace in Europe there will be no peace.

COMMENT

No neighbor, the Five and Ten Cent store don't sell Fords, but you can get most anything else there.

—Mason county's roads are in much better condition this fall than they were a year ago and the Road Department, under the efficient direction of Road Supervisor L. M. Collis, is in much better position to handle the road problems this winter than it has been for many winters.

—President Tom Russell and his directors have had one helluva time getting the Blue Grass League through this season. It certainly shouldn't be as much trouble next year, if the experiences of this year are counted for anything.

—Practically every city of any size or consequence in the Blue Grass region was represented at a recent meeting of Commercial Club officials held at Cynthiana, except Maysville. Why can't we make a Commercial Club go in Maysville?

—Just as these cool nights have about driven off the pesky mosquito, the blamed Radio bug gets busy with his drill. If he hasn't bitten you yet, he will when you get to tinkering around your neighbor's radiophone. There's no better way to spend a really delightful evening than by your own fireside listening to a concert broadcasted by K. D. K. A., W. H. A. S., W. L. W., or some other good station.

—Speaking of spending a delightful evening by one's own fireside. How's there a more delightful way to spend an evening than in the company of a really good book. And there's quite a few good ones been published in the last few months that should be read this winter too.

—Another reason for the increase in the divorce rate is the decrease in the birth rate.

—It's true that the present day magazines contain more beauty hints than they do kitchen helps and it therefore follows that the girls and women of the day know more about making-up than they do about getting dinner.

—Maysville Presbyterians have joined the members of their splendid denomination throughout Kentucky in doing a big thing for Christian Education and from their well known zeal and fidelity it's a certainty that what they have undertaken will be accomplished. The great schools fostered by their denomination deserve their whole hearted support and not only their's but but that of every Kentuckian. What old Centre College alone has done for Kentucky can never be estimated in dollars and cents.

—Speaking of Centre College we cannot help but turn our thoughts to the great "Praying Colonels." More interest will be taken over the South in the football game between that squad, carrying the colors of the South, and Harvard, carrying the colors of the East, on next Saturday than in any gridiron contest of the year. Scores of Maysvillians will await with the keenest of interest the announcement of the final score on Saturday afternoon.

RIVALS IN "THE YOSEMITE TRAIL."

When "The Virginian" score its success on the stage years ago Dustin Farnum had the leading role, and Frank Campeau was the villain of the play. For a long time the show held a favorite place among matinee followers.

With the passing of time we now find that Dustin Farnum is the star in a William Fox production, "The Yosemite Trail," with the good, old reliable Frank Campeau doing dark, villainous deeds. Possibly a long time after these two gentlemen have retired from the stage and screen, they will send their sons to play opposite each other. For such rivalry can continue like vendettas of old.

Throwing confetti at wedding in one London church now costs an additional ten shillings to pay for the trouble of clearing it away.

PENALTY SOUGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A move was made today to make stealing of human glands punishable by death.

Representative Thomas J. O'Grady announced he will introduce at the January session of the state Legislature a bill to make the robbery of glands a capital offense.

The mystery of the stolen gland cases still was unsolved today. Police and Chicago detectives were to canvass all surgeons' offices in the hope of revealing some clues.

Pulaski county farmers during the summer just past have carried on an intensive drive against the low producing hens in their poultry flocks, according to County Agent W. C. Wilson. A total of 15 demonstrations were held in different parts of the county to show farmers how to separate the hens that were still laying from those that had stopped to loaf until spring.

The value of cover crops in protecting fields from erosion and leaching during the winter is receiving increased attention from Owsley county farmers, County Agent P. M. Frye says. More farmers are sowing winter oats for this purpose this fall than ever before in the history of the county.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — There is one achievement of the former Anna Gould which overshadows her being a Duchess. That is the amazing way in which she keeps her youth. With her husband, the Duke de Tallyrand, she arrived here the other day on a trip around the world, looking decidedly younger than she did on her visit ten years ago, when she came for the wedding of her sister, Helen Gould, to Finley J. Shepard. The Duchess de Tallyrand was a young girl when she married her first husband, Count Boniface de Castellane, and her wedding was one of the first marriages of international importance in which an American girl was the bride. Soon after, Consuelo Vanderbilt married the Duke of Marlborough, and since then we have become quite accustomed to American girls marrying titles.

It is difficult to steal an object safely away with a great many things; usually large diamonds, Old Masters, alarm clocks, and many other conspicuous commodities; but any of these are easier prey for the clever burglar than is a taxi-cabful of cheese. Juliano Rosate and Sergi de Luzzio had not reached the point of aspiring to rob a bank or an art gallery. When they looked around for something to burglarize they thought only of life as they knew it intimately, and they picked out a delicatessen, without trying to think farther. Bags of assorted cheeses and bologna were piled into their taxi and they were off. But a whole taxi full of cheese is impossible to be kept secret, and three detectives got a whiff of it as they spun down the street. That was enough. They are under lock and key.

It is amazing to discover that New York City has any limitations as regards anything, especially as regards numbers of people. Other cities send annual pleas to their Chambers of Commerce or the Chambers send pleas to the city asking for accommodations for big conventions "in order that our city may take its rightful place in the world" and so forth. But New York! I never had supposed we were in that position. Yet here were the bankers from the country assembled with us, and we couldn't give them places to sit down! The largest ballroom in the world was used for the meetings, but that seats only 3,000 while there were 10,000 guardians of our money at the convention. Conventions of that semi-private sort can't be held in Madison Square Garden; they must be held in a hotel, it seems, and the managers of the convention have pointed out the necessity of increasing hotel facilities to care for just such occasions. A number of the best known hotels have announced additions in the near future, but the only one contemplated which will be able to house a convention of the bankers' size will be the new Hotel Commodore, now being built on the co-operative plan, which will have a ballroom with a seating capacity of 10,000.

And now Lord Abingdon's house is to be torn down to make way for a garage! For 200 years, this Tenth street mansion has watched American history made, and has taken part in much of it, and now because history demands motor cars, it is being destroyed. The house was built by Admiral Sir Peter Warren, who came to America long before these Colonies had any idea of asserting their independence. The city gave him 400 acres of land, in which Greenwich Village, including this Tenth street property, to show its appreciation of his brilliant record in England's navy. When his daughter, Charlotte, married Lord Abingdon, he built this house for them, a splendid place with solid black marble fire-place and shadowy halls. It is a tenement house today, set in between two big buildings, and soon to vanish along with the brocade skirts and satin knee breeches which it used to know.

"R. U. R.", the new Theater Guild production, shows the Guild in a fantastic humor once again. We enjoy fantastic humor when it is expressed as cleverly as the Guild expresses it, and evidently large crowds of other people do, too, for the play, which has just opened, is one of the sensations of the season. It is a Frankenstein story, done in a philosophical and political-minded manner and on an overwhelming scale. "Rossum's Universal Robots" is what the initials stand for, and a Robot is a mechanical being, adduced from the laboratories and machine shops of a family named Rossum. Millions of these robots do the chores of the world, from coal-mining to stenography. Using what mechanical "minds" they have, and spurred on by a radical biologist, they revolt, and I should say that there were more real thrills in that revolt than in any of the "mystery melodramas" of our Broadway stage.

MAN CHARGED WIFE KILLED TWIN BABIES.
Hammond, Ind., Oct. 16.—Investigation was being made today by police authorities into the case of Mrs. Hazel McNally, 26, a nurse, arrested at South Bend Saturday on a charge of murder, preferred by her husband, Frank McNally, 50, of Hammond. He alleged that she had slain her twin babies, born December 8, 1921.

START MOVE FOR SAFETY SEASON TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

Alarming Number of Traffic Accidents Spurs Cities To Take Corrective Measures, Says Board.

Washington, D. C. — Aroused by the large number of accidents and fatalities attributed to motor mishaps, scores of cities and localities throughout the United States began the week of October 8 to 14 with the observance of "Seven Days for Safety," part of the "Safety Season" suggested by the Highway Education Board.

According to the most reliable statistics, the Board says, at least 12,500 persons were killed in motor accidents during 1921, while 350,000 persons received minor or major injuries during the same period. This death and accident toll, says the Board, can be laid directly at the door of carelessness and ignorance. It is in an effort to correct this situation that the "Safety Season," with its component parts, is suggested.

One of the unfortunate features is the fact that accurate statistics of the number of accidents and deaths cannot be had from all communities. The Board's estimate is based on the best figures obtainable from the Bureau of Census.

In the observance of the "Safety Season" in New York City, one of the outstanding activities is "Safety Week" under the direction of the Safety Institute of America, with Judge Elbert H. Gary at the head of its public safety committee. In New York the week was divided into special days and virtually the same procedure was followed in other cities.

One of the chief suggestions for the observance of the "Safety Season" and "Safety Week" is that in each city a Public Safety Executive Committee be appointed by the mayor, or other competent authority, which should be charged with the duty of carrying on the other activities of the "Season." In this manner the safety campaign in each locality is thus entrusted to those who feel the greatest concern and responsibility for it. Among those suggested to serve on these committees are representatives from the police departments, schools, chambers of commerce, mothers' and women's clubs, civic organizations, Rotary clubs, Kiwanis clubs and kindred bodies.

Although the "Safety Season" was brought forward as a progressive idea the Board in its announcements emphasizes that "the psychological value of stressing a principle during a certain fixed period, such as a week, should not be neglected."

Two features of the "Safety Season" are the national safety essay con-

NOT DUE TO SEX ALONE
Maysville Women Have Learned The Cause of Many Mysterious Pains an Aches.

Many women have come to know that sex isn't the reason for all back-aches, dizzy headaches and urinary disorders. Men have these troubles, too, and often they come from kidney weakness. To live simply, eat sparingly, take better care of one's self and to use Doan's Kidney Pills, is bound to help bad kidneys get better. There is no other remedy so well recommended by Maysville people. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. R. L. Mattingly, 207, West Second street, Maysville, says: "I was in bad condition with my back and kidneys. I couldn't get my proper rest at night owing to the dull misery in my back. I was feeling so miserable I often had to let my housework go undone. I was dizzy by spells and suffered from rheumatic pains. I was so bad I couldn't walk without pushing a chair in front of me and my lower limbs were painful. My kidneys were in bad condition owing to their irregular action. Another of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills successfully and that led me to send to Wood & Son's drug store for a couple of boxes. After using them I was all right. I have felt well since using Doan's and recommend them willingly."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply say for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Mattingly had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

test among children of elementary schools on the subject "My Share in Making the Highways Safe," and the national safety lesson contest among elementary school teachers, who are invited to submit practical safety lessons teaching children safe behavior on the highways. Announcements of these contests are being made from the office of the Highway Education Board, Willard Building, Washington, D. C., and from offices of state superintendents of public instruction.

To stimulate interest $5,500 in prizes are being offered. These consist of three national prizes to pupils, the effort of which is a gold watch and a trip to Washington. In addition 478 state prizes, medals and checks, are offered pupils. All prizes are given by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Elementary school teachers who are asked to submit safety lessons are offered three national prizes, the first, a check for $500 and a trip to Washington. Second and third awards are $300 and $200 respectively. The contests are similar to those conducted by the Board in 1921, in which 400,000 pupils and 50,000 teachers participated.

100 THEATER OPEN FALL SEASON WITH "MONTE CRISTO."

More than 100 theaters, representing the most important first run houses and circuits in the country, inaugurated the new motion picture season the week beginning September 3, with unusual programs headed in each instance by "Monte Cristo," the Fox giant special, which all critics have acclaimed as the finest production of the year, and which is now in the third month of its indefinite run at the 44th Street Theater, New York City.

Numerous reports from many of the houses evidence the striking effect and drawing power of the spectacular screen version of Alexandre Dumas' classic novel, a large proportion of the theaters having created new box office records with the opening engagement. In New York, where the picture was running at $1.50 prices despite an exceptionally warm summer, many were the days when the S. R. O. sign was hung outside the box office.

BODY IN RIVER

MAY SHOW MURDER.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 16.—Cincinnati police are making efforts today to solve the mystery of the finding of the body of a man in the Ohio River at New Albany, Ind. Information received by the police said indications were that the man was murdered. Search of the victim's pockets disclosed a card bearing the following:

"Royal Coffee System, 217 West Sixth street, Cincinnati, Ohio." On the back of the card was written "Charles Franklin."

Police inquiry at the Sixth street address elicited nothing, as the names Charles Franklin, is unknown there. The body had been in the water about a week. According to the Coroner at New Albany, a resident of Louisville who viewed the body said he thought it was that of a Cincinnati salesman, whose name he could not recall.

Among railroad workers it is a popular superstition that one disaster will shortly be followed by two others.

LEXINGTON GREEK IS ACQUITTED MONDAY

Greek, Once Sentenced to Hang for Alleged Assault on Child, Is Set Free.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 17.—Louis Kokas, charged with assault upon 8-year-old Nannie Mae Clem, was acquitted in circuit court last night. The jury was out only 25 minutes before returning with the acquittal verdict, which reversed a verdict of guilty rendered in the same court in July, 1921. Kokas was sentenced to be hung following the 1921 conviction. The case was taken to the court of appeals where the decision was reversed on the grounds that the constitutional rights of the defendant had been violated when the court stenographer was allowed to read portions of the record in the jury room, the defendant not being present.

One of the principal witnesses for the prosecution in the first trial, Nick Pohas, step-father of the assaulted child, was killed in New York while returning to Greece, and his absence from the trial yesterday left a wide gap in the case of the prosecution, according to Wallace Muir, who acted as commonwealth's attorney in place of Maury Kemper, who was disqualified because he assisted in presenting the case to the court of appeals before being elected to the public office.

The guards were attacked at 1:20 a. m. by the bandits, who cut telephone wires.

Robert Tandy, watchman, tore the skin from his hands in releasing himself, and notified police.

BURNS NEAR SAN ANTONIO

United States' Greatest Blimp Burned Tuesday Morning When Returning From Cross Country Trip.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 17.—The army dirigible C-2 which recently visited Cincinnati, was burned at Brooks Field here today.

The big ship caught fire as it was about to make a flight over the city. It was completely wrecked. Four officers were injured.

All were burned slightly, except Albright, whose face was charred and hands badly burned.

The giant blimp arrived here Saturday from El Paso on its return trip to Langley Field from San Diego, Calif., after a cross-country flight.

Army officials planned to remain here a week for repairs before continuing the trip.

The dirigible just had started out for its exhibition flight when fire broke out. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

The C-2 was the army's best and largest blimp.
